

Sophos MDR Rapid Onboarding

Fast-Track Your Managed Detection and Response Service

With Sophos Managed Detection and Response (MDR) Rapid Onboarding, your organization works with a remote team of deployment engineers to accelerate the onboarding process including mass deployment of agent software.

24/7 Threat Protection, Detection, and Response

With the speed of attacks increasing, stopping active threats quickly is becoming more important than ever before. But few organizations have the right tools, people, and processes to effectively manage their security programs around the clock and proactively defend against emerging threats.

With Sophos MDR, our expert team stops advanced human-led attacks. We neutralize threats before they can disrupt your business operations or compromise your sensitive data. Sophos MDR is customizable with different service tiers and can be delivered via our proprietary technology or using your existing cybersecurity technologies.

MDR That Meets You Where You Are

Backed by six global security operations centers (SOCs), Sophos MDR provides 24/7 coverage. Let the Sophos MDR operations team execute full-scale incident response, work with you to manage cyberthreats, or notify your internal security operations team any time threats are detected.

Sophos MDR Integrations

Security data from Sophos solutions and third-party sources can be integrated into Sophos MDR to expand visibility across your environment, generate new threat detections, and improve the fidelity of your existing threat investigations. Sophos MDR Rapid Onboarding Key Features

MDR Rapid Onboarding provides onboarding assistance through the Sophos Professional Services organization. They offer hands-on support to make sure you can get up and running quickly and efficiently.

Same-Day Licensing

MDR Rapid Onboarding accelerates the traditional PO process with same-day licensing. We issue an MDR license the same day an order is placed. Once the license is deployed in Sophos Central, we can deploy agents immediately.

Next-Day Deployment

After a license has been activated, we begin the deployment process the next business day. Our service team uses removal utilities to replace existing products and automation tools for mass deployment of agents across your network. We work with you to optimize your Sophos MDR agent's health and ensure best-practice configurations are in place to optimize performance and speed up threat detections and investigations.

Expedited Handoff to MDR Team

Once the license is activated and MDR agents have been deployed, threat detection and response services begin immediately. Our threat analysts start to receive alerts and can run queries and investigate any indicators of compromise.
